CORAM ; V.G.PALSHIKAR &
MRS. RANJANA DESAI, JJ.

DATED; 10TH AUGUST, 2004.

P.C.;

1. The order impugned and passed by the Caste Scrutiny Committee is valid and legal and does not call for any interference. The petition is therefore liable to be dismissed on merit regarding validity of the order of the Caste Scrutiny Committee.

2. However, on the basis of this certificate the petitioner has secured admission for Engineering education and has put in more than two years of efforts for educating himself. Interest of justice would be met in the event the admission is protected though granted under a invalid certificate, only for the purpose of completion of the education for which the admission is granted on a statement made by the petitioner that he would not claim any benefit under the certificate hereafter. It is needless to mention that the certificate stands invalid. Petition accordingly disposed of.
